Dear Mr. Colby:

CIA's Offices of Printing Services and of Economic Research (OER) provided us invaluable support last year in our preparation of the first International Economic Report of the President.

We are now entering the planning stage for the next volume, to be printed in early January 1974. We can already foresee that, if the quality of last year's product is to be maintained, and if we are to include the latest available statistical data, it will again be impossible to handle the printing of the report through GPO. As you are aware, international economic problems are no less challenging this year, and, especially in light of current international monetary and trade negotiations, we are determined to produce the most useful and relevant product possible. I should like therefore to be able to count on your Agency once again for the printing of the report, and would appreciate your concurrence. Should your staff have any questions at this time concerning this project, [redacted] (456-6266) or [redacted] (456-6422) will be most willing to discuss them.

Sincerely,

Peter M. Flanigan
Assistant to the President for International Economic Affairs

Honorable William E. Colby
